(Details in Sale Ads & On Website)

Durham NC Openers
A couple of rare openers from Durham, NC. Both are from the Scoggins Palace Saloon. Both are the only known examples. The P-8 wood handle has the backside advertising shown over the bell. Thanks to Lou Sutton for the B-18 on eBay and John Cartwright for pointing out a great Buy-It-Now for the P-8 on eBay. Anyone else have a rare Durham opener?

2017 JFO Convention #39 April 19-23 Hampton Inn & Suites Chapel Hill NC

As we go to press, 24 members are coming to Chapel Hill to see everyone and all the openers and corkscrews they may bring along. If anyone is wondering what might be there that they have not seen before, rest easy as I promise I have that covered. In fact, I will have most of my collection at the hotel. No I am not selling out!! But I will sell/trade so bring cash or great openers. This will give everyone more time to really enjoy my collection than they would have on a short visit to our home. And no, I'm not taking up the hospitality room, I will have my own display area right next door. Pat and other spouses will once again have fun making scratch banana pudding to be served warm at the hotel. Pat is checking out some things for the ladies to do. She will be spending some time on our patio giving the dogs some yard time so other ladies are welcome to escape from opener heaven and go along with her. The Hampton has been undergoing renovations. So far they have completed rooms on the third and fourth floors so ask to stay on one of those floors. They have started on the second floor and may or may not have our hospitality room on that floor renovated by convention time. The cut-off for the hotel is April 1st and with the renovations going on, the hotel will fill up quickly this time of year. If you can bring a display that would be great, but if nothing else bring your favorite opener or corkscrew for the Bill McKenzie Best of Show Award.

2018 & 2019 JFO Conventions

At this time next year's convention is being planned for Sacramento. We have two possibilities and I am trying to work the details out. When working with Hampton Inns and some other chain hotels they do not like to schedule more than one year out. Hopefully by May I can work the details out. For 2019 I am talking with hotels in Dayton, OH and Grand Rapids, MI. Both are somewhat long shots at this time. Stan Summers is looking again for a very nice hotel near Rochester, MI. It may be time for us to splurge.

Member's Update

Gary Deachman had a big kidney scare in early February but after some emergency surgery put stints in, he is home doing fine. Sometime the next couple of weeks he will go back in and they will remove a bunch of kidney stones that had caused his kidneys to shut down. He is in good spirits and plans on attending the convention.

Kathy Brown, wife of JFO member Keith, had a heart valve replacement after last year's convention in Baltimore. She kept having fluid build up on her heart and ended up having three operations instead of one. She then got an infection and had to wear an antibiotic pump for 42 days. She is doing fine and just like Gary will be attending the JFO convention with Keith next month.

JFO Convention Directions & Schedule

The Hampton Inn is just off of I-40 East (exit #273). When exiting from I-40 you need to get in the left most lane on NC 54 as the Farrington Rd light is only 50 yards from I-40. Once you turn left on Farrington the hotel entrance is about 1/3 mile on your left. Pat Stanley (919-824-3047) will again be running the airport shuttle in a Red Ford Expedition so please have your cell phone ready and let us know arrival time, airline, flight number & your cell.

2017 JFO Convention Schedule April 19-23
Wednesday– Friday: All Day-Check-In, Hospitality & Show Room/Trade Floor in Same Room (2nd Floor Hampton Inn)
Friday: Auction Hospitality Room (5PM-6PM)
Saturday: 8AM-1PM Public Show (2nd Floor Room)
Saturday Afternoon & Evening: Group Supper (To be determined)

I-7 Beer Openers: Part II by Chris Solari & Philip Henry

Philip Henry sent me a nice letter wanting me to correct my last issue statement of three different I-7 backs to say there are at least eight. Henry's backs are pictured with the differences noted. I also had a visit from Chris Solari and took pictures of his I-7 pairs with variations. Chris's three pairs right side all have slight variations on text size or text wording. The Fox Deluxe comes with backs #7 & #5. Meister Brau comes with backs #7 & #5 (now added to the Handbook). Pabst has different text and backs are #5 & #6. Only #2 Acme Keglet & #32 Pabst have Vaughan Patent # Canco back. Note from the last issue the Waldorf with a front side patent # has a blank back. The other Waldorf is a Keglined back. Special note that Philip found a Quick & Easy Coors to add as a variation to the Handbook.

- 1) Blank (No Ad)
- 2) Quick & Easy (No Patent #)
- 3) Quick & Easy (w/ Patent #)
- 4) Patent # Only
- 5) Keglined
- 6) Vaughan Patent # w/ Canco
- 7) Vaughan Patent # w/ No Canco
- 8) Quick & Easy Canco American Can Co (below)

Above are two of the most desirable I-7s. Both are from Rhode Island and very very hard to find. Todd Milano owns at least two sets and most of the advanced Rhode Island collectors do not even own one example. I have been collecting 40 years and have never even had a chance to buy either one.

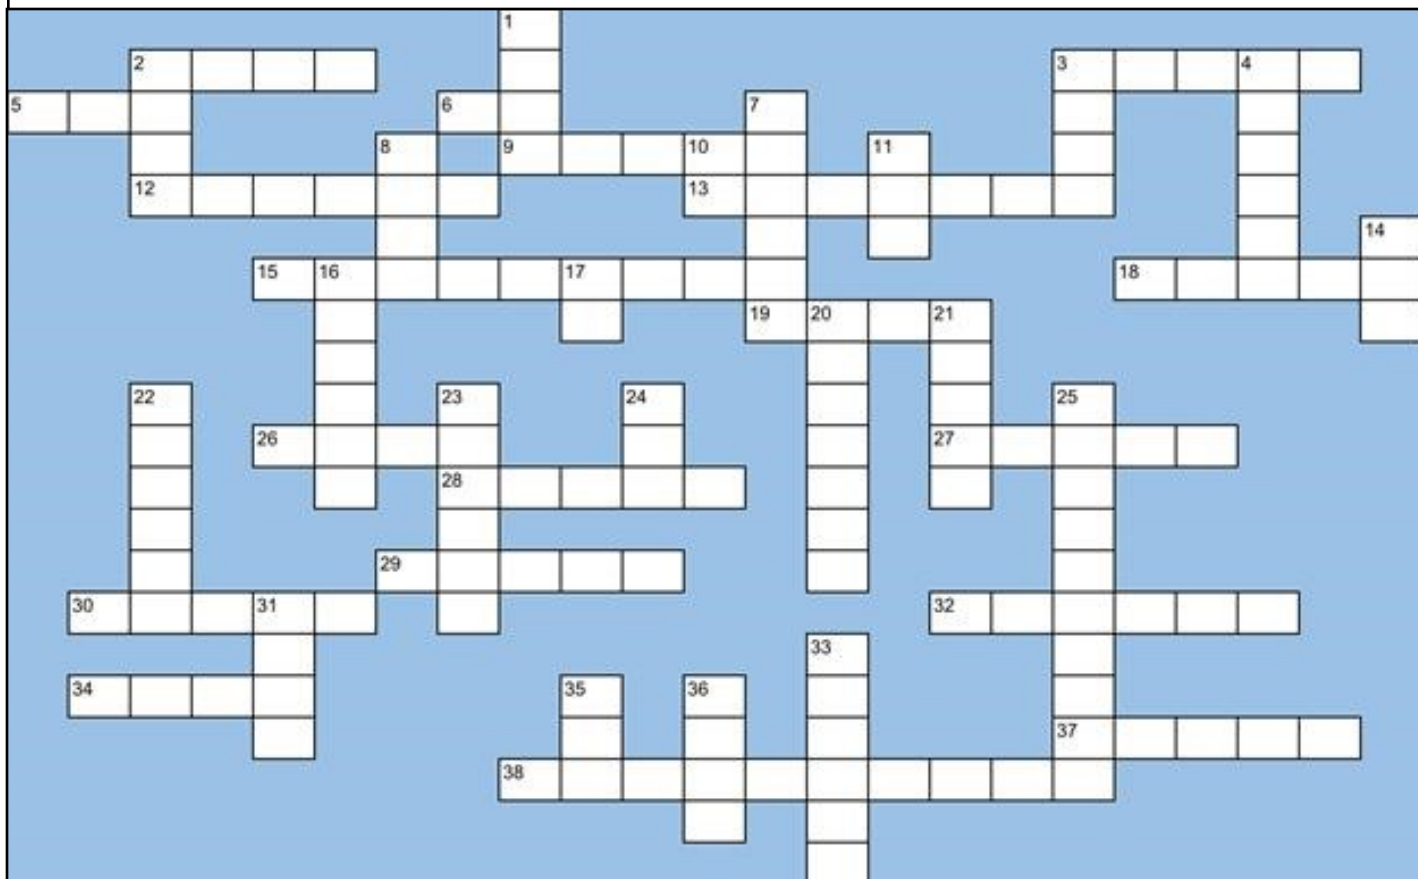

Spouse's Corner

By Pat Stanley, the Editor's Spouse

The Editor said "no poems" this issue, so here is my latest attempt at composing Spouse's Corner. As we age we are to challenge our minds. This has been a challenge, but fun. In high school I made runner up in a State Science Fair Competition with a crossword puzzle using chemistry questions. I gave it to my classmates and instructor and compiled the results. This is only my 2nd crossword puzzle and probably my last (lucky you John). Don't worry I'm not testing you on this one (except for John)!!!

Excuse my references to the collector as males, but we must admit, most collectors are.

I've added some references to JFO newsletters to help anyone who has not been to any/many conventions. Please do not feel badly if there is not a question about You. I had to fit in ones that worked in this creation (Answers Page 34).

Across:

- 2. What do you open with a corkscrew?
- 3. Don Bull and John Stanley co-authored 3 _____
- 5. What three letters represent Just-For-Openers?
- 6. Initials of famous brewery in St.Louis that houses Clydesdales?
- 9. What month of the year is the Annual JFO Convention held?
- 12. What do collectors like to visit to sample new brews?
- 13. What is an Opener listed as a Type A?
- 15. What is the name of the person the Best in Show Award honors (see any July newsletter)

 "Bill McKenzie Best Of Show Award"

Bio for JFO Member #1105 - Tommy Campnell

Hi all! Tommy Campnell of Schaumburg, IL here. I've been a member of the JFO for 10 years now! Wahooooo!! Good times and my oh my how time flies! My first convention was in 2007 in Harrisburg, Penn. I couldn't believe how many openers and corkscrews there were! Not to mention how much beer everyone was drinking....! I knew then, this was a wild and good group to be a part of.

Josef L'Africain got me into collecting corkscrews back in 2005. Good thing too, as I'd probably still be collecting Beanie Babies! For those that know, go ahead and laugh it up. But if you don't know the story, track me down at the Convention and we can share a good laugh.

Corkscrews and Beer Openers are two very different categories, but certainly cross paths.

As a Corkscrew Collector I'm looking for corkscrews that are unusual, unique and or patented. Advertising and general condition don't weigh as much in valuation.

But as an Opener Collector, I find myself focusing on certain types and I want to find all the different advertisements. It's in these openers that I find advertising and condition can effect valuation.

Usually when I mention that I'm a Corkscrew Collector at the JFO Convention, members usually think of a Williamson or Walker wood handled corkscrew with black printed advertising on the handle. But when I think of Beer Advertising Corkscrews I think of these 2 oddities:

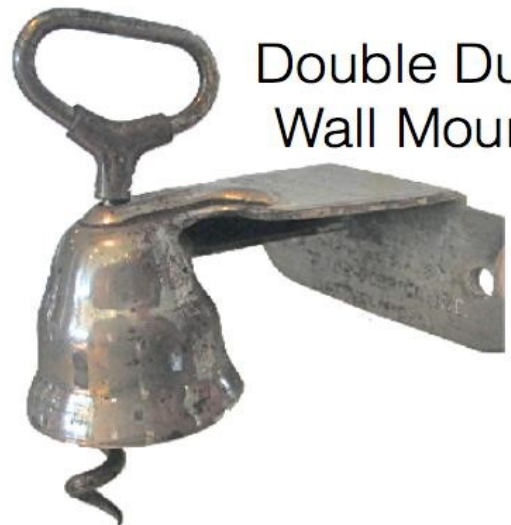

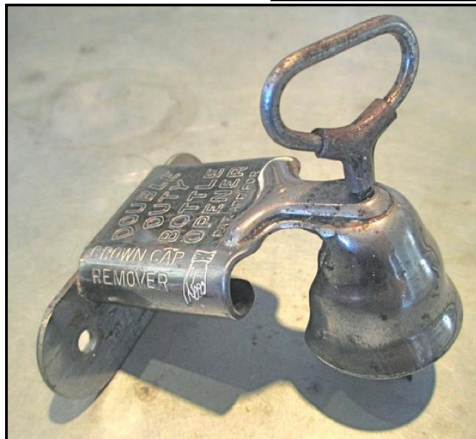

An Old Crow Distillery figural piece and a Schlitz barbell handle with button corkscrew. I'd be VERY interested in acquiring these from anyone who might have one available. Call me! 206-612-7239

One of my very favorite Opener / Corkscrew types is the Williamson Flash type. It's an American Souvenir cap lifter w/ corkscrew and wood sheath. They have a lithograph photo usually advertising a US city and state or a tourist destination / attraction. Josef and I collaborated on an article for the ICCA Bottle Screw Times in 2013. The full article is published in this newsletter. If you have any Flash types that I don't have, drop me a line at sy-rocokid@gmail.com or bring them to the Convention!

I also have a big focus on Wall Mount Openers w/ Corkscrews. I've got several in my collection, but really looking to add these 4 examples. Anyone got these laying around collecting dust?

One final category of my Opener Collection would be L-1 Types. A small can shaped piece that has a push button that releases a drop down can piercer. The JFO Handbook lists 8 different US Beer Advertising types, but I've found an additional 8 international beer advertisements and 11 consumer advertisements. Furthermore, there are at least 8 more known advertisements that I have yet to acquire! Is anyone else L-1 crazy like me? Please contact me if you have any other Beer advertisements that I can add to my master list or if you have some on my wanted list that you are willing to sell.

A COLLECTIBLE “WHATSI”

By Bob Carter

Most collectors seem to be intrigued by the different and mysterious. So it was with me, as a collector of bottle openers, when a friend presented me with a bottle opener that had a strange and unfamiliar gadget on the opposite end (Figure 1, No. 1). We finally concluded that it looked more like a combination pipe reamer and tamper than anything else. However, this explanation left something to be desired, so I continued to wonder and ask questions. It was quite some time later that I found out my “whatsit” was actually a cigar box opener. That appealed to me and sounded like a “neat” thing to collect. Five years, and several hundred cigar box openers later, I still find them to be an interesting subject for collection and study – and still occasionally turn up a “new” type that I’ve never seen before.

The first record I have been able to find of a tool made specifically to open a cigar box is a patent issued on October 13, 1868. There is evidence that this was the first patent for a special tool designed to open cigar boxes. It refers back to an 1864 patent for a tool for opening boxes and states that the new tool is intended for uses for which the aforementioned box opener was not adapted. The new tool was claimed to be “an improvement in box openers – intended principally to meet the wants of cigar dealers, who, as is well known, have frequent occasion to open and close boxes containing cigars, tobacco, etc.” The last patent I located for a cigar box opener was issued on May 9, 1916. Of the ten patents I know of, I have found only two actual openers that were obviously based on a corresponding patent. One of these (Fig. 1, No. 2) was patented on October 27, 1868 – just two weeks after the first patent was issued. I also have several openers that are stamped with patent dates or an indication that a patent is pending that I have not been able to find the corresponding patents for. Of course, many patents are obtained for items which are never commercially produced and conversely, thousands of items are commercially produced without being patented.

The typical cigar box opener has a tapered edge to pry the lid of the box open, a small nick to remove the nail from the lid and a small hammer or heavy flat surface to nail the lid shut again. These three devices were combined in a seemingly endless variety of imaginative shapes. There is also a much smaller group of these tools which do not have a hammer device. I have currently cataloged sixty-eight distinctly different shapes and another twenty-six variations of these basic shapes.

Cigar box openers ranged from the simplest device imaginable to elaborate and expensive affairs. The simplest was merely a small piece of metal to open the box and remove the nail. Others were combined with various utility tools, particularly bottle openers. They are also sometimes found in combination with cigar cutters and even less frequently with such tools as pocketknives or corkscrews and even, in one case, with a glass cutter! Some were made to fold like a pocket knife and some had fancy staghorn or even silver handles.

Approximately one quarter of the different types of cigar box openers in my collection have a bottle opener on the other end. I would guess that the survival rate of these openers, which had another functional use was much higher than of those that were discarded because they had no secondary use. This would be particularly applicable to the type shown in Fig. 1, No. 3, which had absolutely no other use – not even a hammer for the kids to play with or a sturdy point to pry off can lids, etc.

Cigar box openers were given out primarily to advertise cigar brands or manufacturers. But they also advertised wholesale and retail tobacconists and other retail establishments, hotels, bars, beer, soda and other miscellaneous goods or even political campaigns. The majority of advertising openers were generally for personal use and, therefore, were smaller and of lighter construction than those for commercial use by manufacturers or wholesalers. Ninety percent of the openers I have carry advertising. Of the ten percent without advertising, half are sterling silver for personal use and only three are of a particularly heavy construction for commercial use. The balance are light duty openers which were sold at retail for personal use, except one which was hand-forged.

Very few of the openers I have found have any marks indicating their origin. However, I do have a copy of a page from a Brunhoff Manufacturing Company of Cincinnati, Ohio catalog which shows a dozen different cigar box openers that could be imprinted with the desired advertisement. I have eleven of the openers shown in this catalog, but none of them identified the manufacturer, although one does advertise the Brunhoff Company as a source for advertising novelties. From those that are marked, it appears that quite a few were made in Germany. The only actual United States manufacturing identification I have found on any openers are on one from the Erie Specialty Company of Erie, Pennsylvania and one one from Harrington Cutlery Company of Southbridge, Massachusetts, who made cigar box openers for commercial use (Fig. 1, No.4).

In my experience, most people have never heard of cigar box openers and even many people who have them don't know what they are. I have purchased cigar box openers as pipe tools (my first impression, also), a lady's hammer, a lifter, a paper weight (one of the hammers), a coke wrench (whatever that is) and frequently either as a "whatsit" or a simple bottle opener with the provision for the alternate function unnoticed.

I have no idea how prevalent these gadgets were in their heyday, but I have talked to men in their seventies who claim to have smoked cigars all their lives, but never heard of a special tool to open cigar boxes. Many smokers opened their boxes with screwdrivers or knives or whatever hunk of appropriate metal was lying around. One veteran smoker at a flea market sold me a small regular box opener that he had used for many years to open cigar boxes. A friend who worked in his uncle's drug store in the early 1930s remembered cigar box openers being given to them with each full case of cigars, but they would not generally get one with less than case lots. Of course, those limited quantities were given out very selectively to the best customers, rather than in wholesale lots to everybody, as bottle openers were. At any rate, they are certainly much more scarce than bottle openers, but there are still enough around at a reasonable price to keep them in the class of "fun" collectibles.

The replacement of wooden cigar boxes with cardboard boxes which are easily opened without the aid of any tools and the phasing out of the "cheap" advertising giveaways marked the end of production of most of these tools on a large scale. A few commercial cigar box openers are currently being made for those who purchase expensive cigars that are still packed in wooden boxes. All of these that I have seen have a cigar cutter on the opposite end and do not have any provision for hammering the nail back into the box. These modern openers are made in West Germany and retail for $20 to $25 each. This is considerably more than you should expect to pay for all but the most exotic collectible openers discussed in this article.

Oddly enough, with the profusion of figural adaptations of so many early twentieth century items, I have never run across any figural cigar box openers, other than the very appropriate hammers and hatchets. If anyone has any knowledge of figural cigar box openers, I would like to hear from them. I would also welcome any correspondence from other collectors or anyone who has cigar box openers or bottle openers with cigar advertising. I am also interested in any contemporary advertising, sales or other literature or personal knowledge which would contribute to the history of these tools of bygone days. Write to Bob Carter, 3809 Spring Meadow Drive, Ellicott City, Maryland 21043.

Reprinted from 1980s "Antique Trader" Issue and CBO pictures from my collection using examples as close to the original article as possible.

A neat looking figural opener from Tractor Brewery. Bought on eBay but the problem is the name is Tractor Brewing and after some research it looks like this laser cut opener is in the "fantasy" category. A brewery did not actually produce the opener. Still a cute opener.

“Opener and eBay Trivia” (“BIN” Buy-It-Now & “DNMR” Did Not Meet Reserve)

The Bob Stahly Collection is now history. He completed a few sales in this issue but eBay still provided lots of good openers. You have to be patient and be looking fairly often especially with so many sellers using the Buy-It-Now option. No comments were made from the last issue except for the “I-7” story (another update in this issue). I have just learned that eBay will be increasing their seller fees so the future may not be as bright on this platform but it still the best place to sell beer openers.

Just generally checking the eBay results, flat figurals, key shaped flat openers, any painted openers and Starr wall mounts dominate the good results. The corkscrew market saw some good results on eBay but The ICCA Auction continues to control that area of collecting. Don Bull has sold a lot of good corkscrews and still has a good ways to go. Please forward any questions or comments to your editor.

In the last issue a “rusted farm barmount was shown”. After three months of WD 40, I finally got the crank loose enough to take the corkscrew apart. Then I used electrolysis on the parts to remove the heavy rust. A Dremel completed the process and the finished product is shown. Thanks to Wayne Meadows for his input and help.

Just how lucky can one man get? In the previous issue an O-505 Lime Cola was shown that I had sold with a Buy-It-Now on ebay a few years back. John Eblen always wished he had made an offer and then in December being the eagle eye eBay watcher he is got a so-so condition example for $9.95 on a Buy-It-Now. Considerably cheaper than the $750.00 my Lime Cola sold for. He is still looking for a nice upgrade. Sometime this past year John also added the rare Parker wall mount in the original box (right). Note this is one Tommy Campnell is also looking for. John Eblen continues his march to obtaining one of every wall mount ever made. Luck is certainly on his side.

JFO #	Description	G	Price	Rating	S	Comments
A-001-033	American	6	$75.00	Average	2	A desirable New Orleans figural opener.
A-001-079	Tahoe	4	$99.99	Average	1	A very desirable Reno NV opener.
A-009-010	Kamm & Schellinger	6	$85.41	Average	2	Maybe a little high but hard to find and this one was in nice condition.
A-013-UL	Haucks Beer The Mecca Marietta OH	8	$37.00	Low	1	A nice Ohio beer opener that was unlisted and a great buy at this price.
A-014-001	Rainier	6	$107.50	Average	2	This opener can be found and can be tough to find with all original copper finish.
A-015-027	Ambrosia (Block)	8	$124.50	High	2	A somewhat tough South Dakota opener to find but was in nice condition.
A-015-027	Ambrosia (Script)	10	$90.00	High	2	Same story as above but this one was mint condition.
A-020-999	Coca-Cola	4	$163.50	High	3	Not hard to find a finger spinner with Coca-Cola advertising and usually a $50-100 opener.
A-022-001	Ballantine (w Lot of Junk Openers)	4	$139.49	Average	1	Very hard to find beer type and condition was a rough but a great type find.
A-030-999	Coca-Cola Sapula Bristow OK	6	$139.99	Average	2	Another Coca-Cola figural that can be found from time to time, a one time $200-250 opener.
A-037-001	Hand	6	$315.00	Average	1	One of the rare Rhode Island figurals, this one was clean and worth this bid.
A-054-001	Anheuser-Busch	8	$53.00	Low	2	Somewhat rare but two examples turn up close together, and this was offered second.
A-054-001	Anheuser-Busch	8	$116.49	Average	2	Being the first one offered brought much more attention, price was average for this type.
A-999-999	Harley-Davidson Motorcycle Spinner	8	$282.89	Low	3	A desirable but not that hard to find flat figural, price was low from usual value ($300-500).
A-999-999	Harley-Davidson Motorcycle Spinner (BIN)	2	$65.00	Really Low	3	It had rust but someone stole this opener at this price.
B-002-032	Hornung	6	$155.50	Average	2	One of the last of Bob Stahly's fabulous collection, one of the few B-2s with full red paint.
B-007-022	Altoona (Hook Broken Off)	4	$81.80	High	1	Rare opener but with the buttonhook broken off I think a high price, tough brewery to find.
B-013-999	Coca-Cola Bottling Co	6	$125.27	Average	1	Coca-Cola B-13s are all hard to find and price could be high as B-13s are not a popular type.
B-018-461	Abe Trattner	6	$103.51	High	1	A hard to find PA beer opener and local collectors chased it hard.
B-018-719	San Antonio / Key	6	$112.50	High	1	A nice collection of Texas beer openers were offered this past fall and this was one of them.
B-021-061	Olt	6	$105.50	High	2	This opener can be found but there are several serious Dayton collectors looking for Olt items.
B-021-074	San Antonio	6	$108.50	High	2	Another of the great Texas beer openers and high but desirable.
B-021-471	Red Lodge	8	$138.19	High	2	A really good Montana opener but the price seems high even for that desirable state.
B-022-023	Binders	6	$83.88	Average	1	Binders PA beer openers are always in demand.
B-030-999	Coca-Cola Bottling Works Bethlehem PA	8	$125.00	Average	2	Great condition and rarely seen Cocc-Cola opener, there are two different Bethlehem PA ads.
B-030-999	Coca-Cola Gastonia NC	4	$119.49	Average	1	Not many NC older soda openers turn up. This is the second known Gastonia Coca-Cola opener.
B-031-001	Menks	6	$125.00	High	1	The only B-31-1 Menks I have seen but B-31 types are not that popular.

E-008-065	Schmulbach	6	$276.99	High	1	Tough to find West Virginia wire but this price is really Crazy High.
F-032-999	Queen-O Co Cumberland MD Phone 82 (No Opener)	6	$122.50	High	1	Local collectors had never seen this non-opener ice pick with Queen-O Co. ad.
FBOC-420	False Teeth	8	$380.12	Crazy High	3	Not hard to find and a dentist must have chased this opener to the stratosphere.
H-008-002	Buckeye (BIN)	8	$125.00	Crazy High	3	Not easy to find in nice condition but crazy price.
K-002-003	Jackson Jax (BIN)	8	$145.00	High	4	Probably the most common beer K-2 barmount to find and lately they all bring good money???
K-004-001	Pabst (Var A) (BIN)	8	$250.00	Crazy High	3	Someone wanted a Pabst Tabster with the enamel button pretty bad to pay this price.
L-002-018	McAvoy (Corkscrew Unpinned/ Loose)	4	$247.50	High	2	Rare Chicago corkscrew but with a loose corkscrew the price is high.
M-003-022	Flock (Best Offer)	6	$175.00	High	2	Not common but can be found and price would be warranted if condition was excellent or better.
M-019-003	Narragansett	8	$75.00	High	4	Outside of the Schlitz & Miller muddlers the easiest example to find, surely everyone in Rhode Island owns one by now.
M-073-010	Kessler (Yellow)	8	$404.00	High	2	Nice Montana slide-out corkscrew and condition was outstanding but $300 yes, $400 is high.
N-004-999	1934 Chicago WFs	6	$162.50	Crazy High	4	Common knife and usually found in nice condition, just a crazy price for this piece.
N-011-999	Drink Dr. Pepper (Script) 10-2-4	4	$250.00	Average	1	Only know of 2 Dr Pepper shoehorns and this was one of them. Those DP guys pay good money.
O-001-002	Leidigers	4	$202.50	High	1	High because of condition but the second example I know of and a rare bird from Wisconsin.
O-002-007	Hudepohl	8	$156.40	High	1	High because of average graphics but the only example I know of and condition is awesome.
O-002-999	Vess Whistle Bottling Orange Soda (Porcelain)	8	$242.05	Crazy High	5	One of the new Asian openers and lord knows how many they have made.
O-004-041	Berghoff	8	$169.06	Average	2	Average because a group of Berghoff collectors do not all own an example.
O-004-999	Drink Billy Boy	10	$150.00	High	1	Only example I have ever seen and a serious wall mount opener collector bought it.
O-004-UL	Bottle Of Pearl Please!	6	$177.50	High	1	Again the only example known and high because the Texas collectors did not chase after it.
O-005-020	Grand Prize Texas Largest Seller	6	$306.77	Average	1	One of the four hardest U. S. Beer Starr openers to find. Always in demand.
O-005-028	Miller	4	$202.50	High	2	The easiest of the four hard U. S. Beer Starr openers to find, but again in demand.
O-005-028	Miller	6	$250.00	Average	2	Condition warranted the price of this Starr opener.
O-005-999	Beaufont	6	$408.99	Average	1	One of the rare Starr openers to find. A very desirable wall mount to find.
O-005-999	G E	6	$302.77	Average	2	Fairly tough Starr opener but usually in the $200 range.
O-005-999	Glasco Coolers Glascock Bros Mfg	6	$500.99	Average	1	One of the top Starr wall mounts to find and equally sought by soda machine collectors.
O-005-999	Glasco Coolers Glascock Bros Mfg	6	$455.00	Average	1	One of the top Starr wall mounts to find and equally sought by soda machine collectors.

O-006-008	Hamms	8	$261.00	High	4	Pretty sure this is one of the Asian made painted wall mounts. Many examples have turned up.
O-006-008	Hamms	8	$220.18	High	4	Pretty sure this is one of the Asian made painted wall mounts. Many examples have turned up.
O-006-999	Donald Duck (Pic) Root Beer (Porcelain)	10	$282.77	Crazy High	5	Definitely an Asian fantasy opener. Beware!
O-006-UL	Old Ranger Beer & Ale Hornell Brewing (Porcelain)	8	$270.00	Crazy High	1	A new Asian wall mount and again how many were made? Certainly not just one.
O-502-999	Coca-Cola (BIN)	6	$550.00	High	1	The very desirable side-mount Coca-Cola Starr opener (called an “Inverted Starr” by Brown Mfg.). Someone jumped all over it at $550.00.
O-502-999	Delaware Punch	4	$245.50	Average	2	Starting to see more examples and a one-time $500-600 opener.
O-502-999	Delaware Punch (BIN)	2	$329.99	Average	2	Not easy to find but quiet a few now known.
O-502-999	Icy-O	4	$725.99	High	1	Tougher to find than the Delaware Punch and someone opened up their checkbook.
O-505-999	Icy-O	6	$282.20	High	2	Again quiet a few examples have turned up including 5 at one time a few years back.
O-999-999	Starr Flight Malted Milk (Oversized O-5)	6	$255.00	Average	2	Another desirable Starr opener.
P-049-001	Heurich (BIN)	6	$199.95	Average	2	A nice beer Waiter’s Friend from Washington DC.
P-051-025	Capital	10	$183.51	Crazy High	2	Condition was outstanding but I was asking $75 at NABA and hit the home run on eBay.
P-096-001	Gutsch	8	$122.50	Average	2	Turns up some but condition drove this price.
Z-Corkscrew	German 1893 Pivoting Arms Louis Ohring Patent #13,685	8	$3,459.78	Average	1	A very unusual German patent corkscrew.
Z-Corkscrew	German 19thC Striped Celluloid Folding Ladies Legs (3 Colors)	8	$1,334.99	Average	1	Not many folding corkscrew legs with three different pattern colors on the striped legs.
Z-Corkscrew	German 20thC 100-Blade Knife (w/ Pearl Handles w/ Cracks)	8	$4,566.00	High	1	Price seems high but how many times do you see a 100-Blade knife?
Z-Corkscrew	US 1938 Smythe Patent Hootch Owl (Best Offer)	8	$2,400.00	Average	2	One of the desirable American patent corkscrews.

Left picture is the O-6 Old Ranger Beer porcelain wall mount. Any porcelain opener is a recently made Southeast Asian opener. Buyer beware. Below is an O-12-1 Pabst before cleaning and after cleaning. It was found buried in the ground in a western state. After an acid bath and polishing it is a different looking opener.

Don't forget to check Don Bull's web site for good corkscrews: www.bullworks.net

Three eBay sales: E-8-65 Schmulbach sold for $276.99. A record price for an E-8 wire opener. The Coors corkscrew brass bottle came out of England and sold for $199.00. This piece really looked homemade and not a brewery produced piece. Below the F-32 (no opener) Queen-O Ice Pick from Cumberland, MD. Previously unknown to collectors.

The Williamson Flash: Souvenirs of Roadside America (Collections within our Collections)
 by Josef L'Africain and Tommy Campnell (Originally published in the Spring 2013 The Bottle Scruie Times)

In the Summers of my youth, my parents would take my brothers and I on driving vacations. And, with luggage in the “way back” of the 1975 Country Squire, my parents in the front seats, and three boys in the back seat, we would begin our air condition-less journey from the hills of Almaden, California to whereabouts seemingly only known to my father.

After enough threats of “if you boys don’t knock it off, I am going to turn this car around,” we would all settle into driving-vacation mode, eventually arriving at a distant Travelodge where we would rest for the night, before the next morning’s drive to the next motel. Along the way however, there were stops to be made; Little-America, Stuckey’s, and my mother’s insistence on “a nice-clean-gas-station,” for a restroom break.

Still, for me, there were more exciting destinations as we drove roadside America on these Summer vacations: The World’s Largest Thermometer in Baker, California; The Bucket of Blood Saloon in Virginia City, Nevada (not that I was allowed inside); Santa Claus, California; the Tree of Mystery. These brief stops were highlights of the trip! And, when possible, with a little youthful exuberant convincing, I was allowed to get a souvenir from one of these destinations, something to serve as both a reminder of a fond memory, and a kind of trophy for braving the misadventure of being forced to sit between my two older brothers for countless miles.

"FLASH" CORKSCREW AND BOTTLE OPENER

Steel wire corkscrew and cap lifter. Nickel plated. Red or green lacquered, ferruled wood tube. Length 3¾" overall. 4 dozen in box. 11 lbs. per gross. See page 22 for display packing.
 No. 163—"FLASH" Opener. $.70 doz.

The Williamson Flash Corkscrew certainly predates my childhood adventures by a fair amount of years, as they appear in Williamson’s 1929 Catalog and also in the Williamson’s 1946 Catalog. For many of us that collect corkscrews there is something about these kitschy little souvenirs that harken us back to those Summer driving vacations filled with adventure, of roadside America and memories of the miles of empty landscape in between, of really sticky vinyl seats, of siblings with sharp elbows, and of a world filled with wonder as seen by an 8-year- old through the open window of a yellow station wagon.

Within my corkscrew collection, there are but a few Williamson Flash corkscrews; a dozen or so. In Tommy Campnell’s corkscrew collection, there are 604 and counting. The pictures included in this article are those that he has acquired over the past few years. And, following the images is an alphabetical list of the variations within his collection.

In 2006, Don Bull with the help of others, built a comprehensive list of the known Flash corkscrews found in various collectors’ collections. At that point, there were 384 variations on the list, which makes the fact that Tommy himself has 550 variations of the Flash, an impressive collection within a collection.

Don also explained on his website that while the Williamson Flash dates to 1929, clearly these were produced into the 50’s, as some of the roadside attractions that appear on the Flash weren’t open until the late 1940’s. Don’s website references Santa’s Workshop, Whiteface Mountain, New York which opened in 1949 and Paul Bunyan Land, Brainerd, Minnesota didn’t open until 1950.

The Flash Corkscrew with its bright colorful graphics, definitely has a 1950’s look, and while often inexpensive to pick up at a local flea market or antique show, several years ago several of them became the subject of bidding wars on eBay with prices peaking into the hundreds of dollars. While the prices, over the recent years, have come back down to earth, they are still coveted by many collectors. And, for Addict Tommy Campnell, it is an obsession as he explains, "I see each one as its own variant of the flash corkscrew. Each one comes from a different place in America. Each one has its own story, comes from a different place, has a different photo and with different text. I love it! I simply cannot control myself when it comes to acquiring a new variation for my personal collection."

And, variations there are, as Tommy explains some of the differences, "Same text, but different picture. Same picture, but with different text; different text fonts. Capped, not capped. Natural wood, red, green, blue colored sheaths. Metal sheaths and wood sheaths; length and circumference differences. Paper pictures, stickers, painted, labels, metal badges..."

It is these variations that keeps Tommy on the hunt, and he poses (and begins to answer) the question, "Where do you draw the line between advertising and manufacturing variations? There are so many of them out there and I'm always adding new ones to the list. I'm not totally sure, but for now I see them all as unique variations that I truly love adding to my collection. "

As mentioned above the list of Tommy's Flashes, those with an asterisk have the same text, but feature a different font, have a metal endcap or lack the endcap, or have a different graphic/image, For those that are interested in a comprehensive list that includes a more detailed description of the images as well, feel free to email Tommy Campnell at syrocokid@gmail.com. And, if you have any Flash Corkscrews that you want to send his way, he will happily add them to his collection.

Whether you found yourself riding in the back seat of a station wagon, minivan, or as a passenger on a Greyhound bus, if you were the one doing the driving back in the day, or you got to experience a time in the United States when touring the interstates and roadside America was the idea of an exciting vacation, the Williamson Flash brings us a nostalgic look back. Or, a "Flash"-back, as it were. And, for Tommy quite a collection within his collection.

The following is a current list of the variations in Tommy's Flash Corkscrew collection, where there are duplicate entries*, they represent variations of font type, metal cap versus no metal cap, and different graphics although a souvenir from the same place.

 Zion National Park, Utah The Great White Throne

There are variations in the size of the sleeve on the Williamson Flash

There are also a few examples with metal sheaths instead of wood

And, the souvenir images show up on other items as well
