Jeb Burruss Collection

Many thanks to all who participated in the Jeb Burruss Sale. Overall many nice openers found new homes. Check inside this issue for sales results. At this point there are about a 1,000 openers remaining to be sold. I will be listing on eBay and taking to shows but anyone can inquire if an opener interests them.

A-33-3, B-11 (3), B-50-1

Some desirable Rainier beer openers. Both examples of the B-11 Rainier Potlatch opener with the backside of the opener at the top. The A-33-3 "big fish" is very hard to find as is the B-50-1 "big hook" opener in the middle. If you have some good Rainier openers bring them to Seattle.

-- 2018 JFO Convention #40 April 18-22, 2018 Hampton Inn & Suites Northgate Seattle WA --
Seattle convention is next month and it is never too late to plan on attending. We have put the word out to local breweriana collectors and should have a good turn out from them. The convention schedule is simple with Wednesday to Saturday we will set up in the Hospitality/Meeting room. Local sightseeing will be up to individuals and Pat has written a brief summary of the better sights to see in Spouse's Corner. The only event planned outside of the Saturday Public Show (8AM to 1PM) is a short auction for Friday afternoon (4PM to 5PM). The airport shuttle costs $40 for the first person and $6 each additional person (not $22 as stated in the last issue). The word is out to the local beer collectors from Washington and Oregon and we should have several in attendance and dropping by. Seattle will be a very exciting city to visit so BE THERE!!! This is a celebration for 40 years of JFO Conventions.

--- Members Update ---

Mike St. Amand passed away in August after a short illness. Theresa and he had been visiting family a few weeks before in Vancouver, B. C. when he told her he was not feeling well and she got him home to Midland, and he passed away after a few days in the hospital. They were JFO convention regulars starting at Nashville in 2006 and were always the life of the party. Mike had a passing interest in openers but just like the camaraderie of our group. As one JFO member said, "I did not know Mike well but he always had a beer in hand and a smile on his face". Our condolences to Theresa and the St. Amand family. More on Mike on the next page. A really great person to be around.

We also lost a couple of former members the past year including Janet Goss (Wyoming collector) and Natalie Blakeman (Nevada collector). Janet was always looking for hard to find western openers and especially ones from Wyoming. Natalie was a general antiques collectors and would ask if I had any Reno, Nevada openers. Condolences to their families.

Mike St. Amand (August 23, 2017)

Mike and Theresa first appeared at the 2006 Nashville JFO Convention. Being Canadians Pat loved them from day one. A great fun loving couple who quickly became part of the JFO family. They attended every JFO Convention from 2006 through 2016. In 2008 they got their best friends John and Mary Lynn to start attending. Four happy Canadians is just what JFO needed. Mike was not a serious opener collector but love buying the low-end deals. At his last convention he bought a huge bag of plastic openers for $50.00 (about 200 in the bag). In 2012 his daughter, Mechelle, joined us in Las Vegas. Mike definitely passed his fun-loving spirit down to her. Mike and Theresa did not attend JFO this past year in Chapel Hill as they basically had a large St. Amand reunion planned last summer in Vancouver, B. C. Mike's siblings from as far away as Australia were coming in for a multi-week get together along with his children. Unfortunately towards the end of the family vacation he told Theresa he was not feeling well and she managed to get him back home to Midland, Ontario. Once home he was hospitalized for a few days before passing away. Oh Canada lost a great man. Thanks Mike for a lot of great Convention memories.

Cleaning Cans by Jim Burruss (Brother of John known to us as Jeb)

When we were younger, my brother and I began our beer can collecting craze. Like most kids, we were somewhat limited to what we could find in stores and in trading at swap meets. However, we were also lucky enough to come across a number of nearby “dumps” to fish through, where we gathered many different brands and older cans. Additionally, since we lived near the Lake of the Ozarks, this also meant finding a lot of beer can treasures discarded by visiting tourists, who brought their “beers of choice” on vacation trips with them.

As you can imagine, after exposure to the elements, some of the cans had rusty tops and a light rusty sheen on the painted portion of the can. As fate would have it, we lived in Jefferson City, Missouri, and there was a Chesebrough-Ponds manufacturer in town. We somehow made the acquaintance of someone there and during a conversation regarding beer cans and rust, this person mentioned a chemical that might help remove the rust from the metal tops and some of the printed / painted cans. They supplied us with Oxalic Acid in a powder form, which did the trick in removing rust and returning many of the cans to an almost pristine condition.

Collecting and restoration was a unique and collaborative effort on our parts. Our Grandfather was a daily Lipton Tea drinker (the instant powdered version) and he bought it in jars that perfectly fit two 12 oz. beer cans inside, stacked on top of each other. Our mother set us up in our basement area near the washing machine, where there happened to be a floor drain. We’d first fill the cans with plain water, being mindful of not wasting the “potion” on the inside of the can; we needed to make it last as long as possible. We’d then fill the jar with about 2 inches of warm water and add a teaspoon of the powdered Oxalic Acid. We then stirred it up until the powder was dissolved and submerged the cans in the jar for an overnight soak. The next day, we’d don our latex gloves, use a soft brush to scrub away the residue and rust, wash and rinse them, dry them off, and set the cans out to dry the insides. This process worked every time and was highly effective, for after “the treatment”, you’d never know they had been treated. (One caveat though: not all the rust came off...it has to be a light surface rust that hasn’t permeated the paint or metal.)

I’ll be forever grateful for sharing in beer can collecting with my older brother, John. In fact, I still have about 200 of my favorite cans from our childhood. John never lost his fascination with beer memorabilia and went on to become a premiere beer opener collector, with a collection that was quite impressive and enjoyed with both other collectors and good friends. I will also always be grateful that his years of collecting brought him so much joy. Thanks to everyone who was a part of it.

Thanks for a great write-up Jim.

Note: 2lb Oxalic Acid Bottle can be bought for $19.99 on Amazon.com (will last a long long time)

The John Stanley Process For Cleaning Openers

Cleaning openers has always been a passion of mine. Good or bad I like to clean and polish openers. Collectors are split about 50/50 on whether to clean or leave "original". I always say I have never seen rust help the value of an opener. Cleaning does take some effort and my process follows.

If openers/corkscrews are rusty I start with soaking the piece in a solution of Oxalic Acid. Above left is a jar of old radiator cleaner (which is Oxalic Acid) that Harold Queen (deceased JFO member) got a case of at auction 20 years ago. He gave me two jars like the one above and I have cleaned a few hundred openers using Oxalic acid in those 20 years using up one jar. Back in the 1980s when I first started cleaning you could get Oxalic Acid at a drugstore but now you can get on Amazon.com (see previous page). Above middle shows a glass jar I have used for many years (an old mayonnaise jar with a plastic top). It works well for openers up to 5" long and then below I show a glass meat loaf maker I use for larger openers. Above right shows the B-31-UL Tosetti placed in the jar. As you can see the opener leans against the side and that is preferable to letting it lie flat which still works but it is easier to remove the opener when it is leaning.

B-31-UL Tosetti before cleaning.

The John Stanley Process For Cleaning Openers (Continued)

Above are items I use when cleaning with Oxalic Acid. The acid jar and then a plastic cup I keep the jar in. A short punch tool to lift the opener out of the acid but if the opener or corkscrew does not have a keyring hole I pour the acid into the plastic cup so the opener/corkscrew can be removed. Note over time sludge builds up in the bottom of the acid jar and this is a good time to rinse the sludge out. You do not have to but I use latex gloves when using acid or polishing openers and corkscrews. Above right is the B-31-UL Tosetti after the acid bath and using a SOS pad to remove the acid residue (you can use fine steel wool instead of a SOS pad). Below is my work table with a Craftsman dual buffing wheel (6" cotton buffing pad on the right side and a 6" extra fine brass wheel on the left side). A shop vac to clean the mess up afterwards, a vice, a Dremel tool and a fan for summertime heat. The Craftsman wheels have a guard and I recommend one (a lot less messier) but if you really want to get "down on it", remove the guard.

The extras that you need when polishing. Above a 6" cotton buffing wheel (on Amazon: Dico 527-40-6 1/4-Inch Spaced Spiral Sewn 6-Inch Diameter 1/2-Inch Thick Buffing Wheel). Wells Lamont Heavy Duty work gloves (on Amazon: Men's Winter Work Gloves with Leather Palm, 100-gram Insulation, Suede Cowhide, Large (Wells Lamont 5130L). Matchless White Compound bar (<https://www.matchlessmetal.com/compounds.php>). Bars are different colors but white works best on steel openers. Safety goggles and nose mask (very fine particles fly when buffing so not good for the lungs or eyes). Below Dremel tool with various wire brush bits used (both brass and steel).

Before I start polishing I make three finger tip pads (left thumb and index and right thumb) from paper towels and using shipping tape to hold together. When you polish steel openers even with padded gloves the openers become very hot.

Hard to see but I do have the paper towel tips on my index and thumb fingers of my left hand because I use my left hand to hold the opener and just have a thumb paper insert on my right hand. Me with the gear on and then holding the B-31-UL Tosetti before polishing begins, then polishing both sides, and finally I also polish the edge all the way around to complete the process. Below is an E-4 Keeley wire opener. Any opener with raised lettering will have black residue build-up from the white compound. I use the Dremel with a brass brush to clean the lettering and finally I clean each fret on both sides.

Below: B-31-UL Tosetti after polishing. Much better looking than the original dirty opener. Time for fresh acid (jar last 200-300 openers). I use 3 tablespoons of Oxalic acid and hot water to dissolve.

The dissolving acid working on the A-13 Drewrys car opener. Below left: before acid, middle: is after acid treatment and right: opener after polishing.

Finally a G-5-UL Park Brew opener: Top two pictures are before any cleaning. Very rusty but I knew this style usually cleans up well and it certainly did. Good luck and ask any questions.

“Opener and eBay Trivia” (“BIN” Buy-It-Now & “DNMR” Did Not Meet Reserve)

An update on the A-60-1 Narragansett Indians featured in the last issue. A local dealer in Providence was asked to clean a house out that belonged to the Haffenerer family who started the Narragansett Brewing Co. After loading his truck up with leftover furniture and a lot of miscellaneous stuff, the guy was driving off and noticed two bags of trash outside. He loaded them up in the truck and that evening going through the bags found two A-60s. The next day when he returned to the house a search of the kitchen yielded a third opener in the silverware drawer. Amazing discoveries do still happen and to find three Indians at one time is really astonishing.

Note that a fifth A-60 was sold in August on eBay for $650.00 on a Best Offer. This one came out of Seattle, Washington (soon to be home of JFO 40).

Some examples sold from the eBay results. A-15-43 Mascoutah. Opener shown from my collection and I thought only known until the second sold on eBay. B-2-29 Gold Nugget that is hard to find in nice condition. B-24-97 Leinenkugel's and a always popular beer brand. E-4 Cheerwine and not that hard to find but being the 100th Anniversary year in hot demand right now. The seller said the F-16-6 Walter Bros was a “Bung Remover” and did not realize it is a corkpuller. Walter's items always in demand and only one known.

Many thanks to all 21 bidders on Jeb's openers. I thought JFO members should have a first shot at his openers . Remaining openers have been sold on eBay or will continue listing on eBay for many months to come. Jeb had one fabulous collection and not many sales like this will happen in the future. A local collector (Ron Rychel nakita6 on eBay) did get the Texas, Louisiana and several other openers selling non-Texas on eBay. I ended up sending 200 pounds of openers back to another local Texas collector, Charlie Staats so Ron and he could disburse them through a local antique mall and locals show in the San Antonio area.

It is always so good to see everyone,
That is the real fun.

Sure you may get an opener you have longed for,
But the real prize is you get to see people you adore.

It's like it hasn't been a year,
Even though not many do we live near.

Partly because we stay in touch,
And because these people mean so much.

Going to Seattle,
Will be worth the travel.

A new place to explore,
About which to learn more.

You be there,
Or an opener you may miss, beware.

Thanks for all who helped in Chapel Hill,
All that remember I will.

Especially making the banana pudding from scratch,
For which there is no match.
