B-25-
11
Goebel

The B-25-11 Goebel is one of the tougher B-25s to find. I was fortunate enough to get this one on eBay this past February (see eBay results, bought for $44.00). A couple of weeks ago Don Bull found the Goebel ad to the right. It is from Scarborough's Road Map and Motor Guide of Michigan and was published under the direction of the Wolverine Automobile Club, 1913. It is pretty amazing that these two items turned up a month apart. The B-25-11 is the first one I have had a chance to own. Thank you Don as he has found several interesting opener ads recently.

2009 JFO Convention #31 April 22-26 Troy (Detroit) MI

Please note the hotel name has changed to the Ramada Plaza/Hotel—Troy/Detroit. The change was effective April 1st. Everything remains the same for our convention. If you still want to make a reservation the number is 1-800-272-6232 (or call the hotel direct at 1-248-879-2100). As I send this newsletter out we have 34 members signed up. As long as the hotel has rooms (and they do right now) you can reserve a room. Also the hotel changed the Monday to Wednesday rate from $99.00 to $88.00 (the rate for the rest of the week).

The Itinerary for the Convention is Wednesday & Thursday: Room-To-Room Trading, Friday Brewpub Lunch 11:30 & Open House Tours at 1:30 at the homes of Jim Kaiser & Stan Summers followed late afternoon or early evening by a short auction in the hospitality room. Saturday's Public Show is from 8AM to 1PM and members remaining that night we will go out to dinner (location to be determined).

The hospitality room number is 118. The hotel is two floors and they are suppose to locate everyone as close as they can to 118 on the first floor. Several restaurants are close by and area maps will be in the "convention goody bag". If anyone has any questions do not hesitate to call or email me. Remember its JFO, BE THERE!

2010 JFO Convention #32 April ??-?? San Antonio TX

A hotel and a date have not been determined for next year's convention. We hope to have the convention in San Antonio next year. John (Jeb) Burruss, Pat and myself will have something lined up by the June JFO issue. If anyone locally has any good leads on a hotel please let us know. Getting the hotel is half the battle and with the economy being bad, we are hoping to get a good rate for next year. Its time to visit the Alamo!

Members Update

George Lohmiller, one of JFO's original members (#15), passed away January 8th at the age of 83. I never met George and a family member called to tell me of his passing. He lived in Colorado and loved collecting openers.

Bill MuGrage, another early member of JFO (#122), passed on February 11th. He was 70 years old and was a long time collector of Northwest U. S. breweriana and openers. He survived by his wife, Ellen and a son. Bill and Ellen ran a large eBay store called "premium-pc" (for Premium Pacific Coast). Ellen will be selling Bill's collection through the store on eBay.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to the families of George and Bill.

Also two former JFO spouses have had recent health issues. Cora Whelan was diagnosed with breast cancer and has completed successful treatments. She is doing well. Kay Schmitt had to have stents placed in her due to heart problems. She is doing well and hopes to make the convention in Troy. We certainly need someone there to tell good jokes. Their addresses are in the membership list in this issue.

Folks it has been one year since my operation and I am doing very well. The diet is somewhat of a challenge as far as what I can eat and not eat. After last year I am looking forward to a pain free and feeling good convention.

Don Bull sent in the ad shown at the right. An interesting new use for a B-21 style bottle opener. You have to wonder how many good beer openers met this fate? I have seen a few "B"s where the very opener end has been made into a screwdriver. This would certainly seem much easier to alter than doing what is shown at the right.

Also note Don did some fabulous research on the Electro-Chemical Engraving Co. of New York City. They made "Sliders" ("M-3"s and "M-73"s) along with "A-26"s, "A-38"s, "C-1"s and "C-2"s. Check out <http://www.bullworks.net/daily/20090315.htm>. If you have anything to add please let Don know.

Bringing the Bottle-Opener Back to Usefulness

ONCE upon a time long, long ago, in the dim ages of last July, there was a little bottle-opener. Its owner thought that he would have no more need for a bottle-opener, so he parked it away up high on a dusty shelf.

Long afterwards in getting some books down from the shelf he upset the little bottle-opener which fell with a ringing cry at his feet.

He saw it and smiled. Then he said, "Poor little bottle-opener, don't you cry, you'll be a screwdriver by and by." And that is just what he made of the little bottle-opener as you can see for yourself.

The little bottle-opener is usually made of hardened metal and is well worth the time spent in transforming into a screwdriver. Try it and see.

This little bottle-opener reformed and became a screw driver

August 1920 Ad from the Popular Mechanics magazine. Does anyone have one made into a screwdriver?

Spouse's Corner

By Pat Stanley, the Editor's Spouse

What a Wonderful Time of Year....the grass is green, trees and flowers are in bloom, and the time til JFO is going zoom, zoom, zoom!!!

Thought I better compose my corner, though I don't think John is near production time on the newsletter. You see, this is Basketball End of Season...that's the reason. At this point the Carolina Tar Heels are in the final eight. Still recovering from the last game that ended shortly after midnight.

And of course, another reason for newsletter delay, is that John was sick all last week-end with a spring cold. Much better than last year, as he was in the hospital this time last year....trying to get well enough to get to JFO.

The newsletter is not being delayed because he has been cooking in the new kitchen as promised. He makes corn bread every night and that is all. Every time I cook, I have to really clean up as I don't want the newness to ever go away. Every morning before I go to work, I shine the stainless steel sink....it just warms my heart to see such shine, a bright spot to start the day off. Guess kind of how John feels when he shines all his openers!

I stayed outside all day last Saturday and Sunday, good time to have an outside project when the house is full of germs and John was overdosing on basketball.

It was suppose to be our first quiet week-end as we had continued to have more done to the house after the kitchen was completed Christmas Eve Day. The guys who did some of that work paint on the side on week-ends. So for three weeks, they showed up promptly at 8 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday and put in a full day of work. The 3rd week-end they were to paint "the opener room", my office and the guest bedroom. I had hurt my shoulder and was not up to dealing with my office being painted...plus I had painted it a couple of years ago, so it could wait some (just looked dull after everything else in the house was done in richer colors). And I was concerned about where all John's "stuff" would go when he moved out of that room. Good thing my office is on hold, as he had openers everywhere. Could not walk through the living room!

Then he didn't like the color of the paint he had signed off on. Most of the house is painted in yellow tones with brown undertones. And Arizona Tan is in a few rooms, a color he had been calling "baby shit brown". He did not want yellow, so I showed him how the color for his hobby space was not yellow and not as brown as Arizona Tan. Well, he only could see yellow after two coats and said he really wanted the Arizona Tan. This is Sunday afternoon....no where to go get paint and we were having dinner guests the next Sunday...so the living room would still be totally blocked along with other minor areas like the table holding part of the collection on one end. Oh by the way, the guests were my boss, his wife and another couple. I had never had a boss to dinner before and was beginning to wonder whatever possessed me to have anyone over with all this going on.

John left for lunch and called me two more times to tell me how yellow the walls looked....just in case I had not heard him the first twenty minutes that he carried on about the paint. Finally, he called and said it would be ok as it finally sunk in that I was pretty upset that he was so unhappy. Everything else had turned out so well. And I hoped that when everything was back in place and pictures were up again, all would be well. Most things are back in place, but I'm afraid to ask.

John worked hard to get things back in order before the dinner guests came. Everyone seemed to have a good time and dinner turned out fine I think...but again, best not to ask John!! I did cut my finger right as I was putting everything together to serve which certainly is not a cool thing to do, but my boss's wife came and helped. After dinner my boss scraped dishes while the one usually doing that, Mr. Clean was walking the dogs. I work with a down-to-earth man and live with one who goes into orbit over a simple paint color!!

So back to the week-end project. I admit, I often think I can accomplish more than a reasonable person would consider possible. The plan was to power wash the back yard picket fence Saturday and paint on Sunday. Problem #1, could not power wash both sides as just spraying dirt back and forth as I was knocking the mulch out from under the pickets so I could stain the entire boards. Plan B was to do the inside of the fence first, as that side has two cross boards and would be harder. Power wash of one side completed on Day One. Sunday, started with a sprayer I got to use on the shed, but could not use as you could not angle 45 degrees. Too broad of a spray area for a picket fence. Started with a brush til John went out and asked him to get me a bug sprayer like I had seen someone use (on a solid fence, not one of these work intensive picket deals). Now I know bug sprayers dispense lots and lots of liquid because, you are, after all, trying to kill bugs. Going through way too much paint. Back to the brush. It was a nice day, so not too bad. But daytime was going quickly after spending time with those sprayers. Still determined, opened another gallon of stain. After using a little, I noted that it wasn't real stable where I had set it down, but I'd be careful not to knock in over. Well, as it was that day, gravity must of taken over as it rolled down the hill (remember we have a hill that both the shed and the gazebo are on).

Went inside, looking for a little support. I must have been overcome by paint smells to think that would happen when I told him about the paint. No, he was not upset about the $25 wasted...but that the dogs would not be able to go out in the yard ever again...I had contaminated it. So now I have two sprayers and a paint brush to clean, plus have to remove painted soil and soak it down hoping it will all go away. I called it a day...can you blame me?

Now mother nature is calling for rain Wednesday through Sunday. I would be back to power washing again, so I took Tuesday off. Being more realistic now, didn't think I could paint the rest (most) of the inside of the fence in a day. Thought I would let it warm up some before I started and went after more stain first thing in the a.m. My car thermometer kept showing the exterior temperature dropping. The last one I saw before I stopped looking was 42 degrees and the wind was blowing. Okay, I've already taken the day off, so I didn't get ready for work...even a Mary Kay consultant doesn't put on makeup to paint...so now it would be lunchtime before I got to work if I backed out. Remembering that I am a Canadian, I put on a neck warmer, hat and coat and went out into the elements with determination. I kept a positive outlook until a dumb plumber next door replaced their sump pump and released all the water into our yard. The two foot wide river flowing under my freshly painted gate became noticeable when the cold ground I was sitting on also became wet and I had to go change clothes. The good thing is that the adrenaline started flowing too when I went to tell him how unhappy I was with him and now the dogs couldn't come out in the yard because of water (didn't tell him about the paint).

The good news is I finished the inside of the fence. Hope to do the outside before JFO, but it's raining again this week-end and now my first priority is getting ready for JFO!! The souvenir opener is here and the display awards are packed to go (so Bring a Display). I'll start making name tags this week-end for the great list of people who have signed up.

John can't bring as much this year, as there will be two doggie seats in the car with two great little travelers who will be glad to be coming with us. Think we will leave as soon as the groomer gets them all trimmed up for the trip Monday of JFO Week. Of course, before we get out of North Carolina, Snazzy will take Jazzy's bow out, but keep her own in all week. If both bows are in/out, this is how you tell them apart. Snazzy starts with an "S" as does small and silver which describes her. Jazzy (much bigger) starts with a "J" as does Jumping and she will be the one we will be yelling at to stay off of everyone, as she is the one who wants attention the most. She is my shadow at home, always hoping for a little pat on the head.

Oh my...I may be exceeding my allowable space and after all, most/all of this newsletter should be about openers. So I will sign off for now since I get to see some of you soon anyways. Looking so forward to this annual event with friends, having fun.

PS, Bring anything Michigan to Troy.

CBO-HKH-09 at the left sold for $227.50 this past quarter on eBay. Front side advertises Hernan Cortez with Key West on the back. I assume the style is hard to find and possibly the ad was very appealing also. Bring your CBOs to Troy. We should have a few members interested in them attending.

“Opener and eBay Trivia”

In the last issue Joe Young sent in a picture of an Eifel Multitool. No one responded about inquiries if they knew the history behind the opener but I can add that at least three Eifel tools sold this past quarter on eBay and the price ranged from $10 to $20. Certainly not that rare but a neat opener with several functions.

The number of eBay sales was high again this past quarter but the quality was down. The usual lots of average beer openers were offered for sale but the really good ones were few and far between. Starting out the “A”s was an original Coca-Cola baseball player bringing $306.99. With all of the repros in the marketplace it was a little surprising. On the beer side a nice B-11-1 Seattle Potlatch opener brought $177.50. A style that most serious collectors own but finding one with all of the enamel present can be very challenging. A B-31-UL Salem brought $169.49 and it is amazing to me how many B-24s from this brewery turn up and in JFO’s 31st year the B-31 is discovered.

An apparently very tough style Cigar Box Opener (CBO-HKH-09) with an ad for Hernan Cortez / Key West brought $227.50. For the most part CBOs in the more common styles have seen prices settle down to the $10-$30 range. As always when it is a tough style the price can go way up as it did in this case. A rusty D-15-1 Excelsior Red Feather brought $136.49 and for this style a little cheap but considering condition and today’s market values, a fair price.

In the wires or “E”s a couple of ULs made their way to North Carolina and they were not cheap. An E-4-UL Drink Edelweiss Beer / Pontiac Fuel Co sold for $89.00 followed by an E-9-UL Capitol New Beer / George Mason Co Denver Colo. selling for $114.50. Every now and then I decide to chase hard after some openers and both of these I really liked. Both are by distributors and in the “E” category they are usually the hardest ones to find. “F”s were highlighted by Coca-Cola openers with the top lot being a kitchen spatula, F-507 Coca-Cola Gardner Ice Cream, bringing $154.01. Coca-Cola still sells very well and the harder to find openers certainly bear this out.

The next style of interest is the “L” or bottle shaped openers. A reminder is due as a couple of members asked me if a drop down bottle opener (similar to a L-1) advertising Spearman Beer, was legitimate? The seller “airborne306” is the person selling knives and openers with decals attached. Anytime you buy an opener with a decal or paper label it is “buyer beware”. This seller buys the drop down bottle styles and then they magically reappear with unknown beer labels on them. I always figure if you buy anything and it is under $25.00, you can live with it even if the piece is a fake. Lets call it a cheap lesson but when the money gets in the $100.00 range and higher then you are in the “I Lost My Shirt Class”. Be careful and ask a fellow member if you are not sure. Its people like “airborne306” who give the hobby a bad name.

The “L”s saw one big highlight, a rare L-2-22 Enterprise Brewing from San Francisco, bringing $576.99. With four “L-2”s to go your editor chased hard but once again on a rare corkscrew I was runner-up. In this case the rumor mill told me it was a San Francisco collector with deep pockets who bought the item. I just keep telling Pat I have to live long enough to finish my set of “L-2”s. Note I am still one behind Norm Jay who has 21 of the known 24.

Next up were two different N-29 Coca-Cola bullet pencils selling for $504.99 and $449.44. A couple of years ago I sold mine for $200.00 each and I thought I had done well. It sure looks like I left some money on the table. I have seen a couple of other examples with Coca-Cola ads and I cannot say why these two went into orbit price wise. With eBay you just never know.

Wall mounts saw two examples of the O-5-11 Acme Beer Starr X opener sell for $127.50 and $100.00. The Acme is fairly tough to find but I did not realize it had risen to the $100.00 level value wise. One with a broken mounting hole also sold bringing $32.00. No other interesting wall mounts were noted. The “P”s or beer corkscrews had many notable price results. A nice Detroit corkscrew, P-2-2 Voigt brought $255.99, a P-10 Pickerings of Cincinnati (non-beer) in the original Williamson box brought $471.66 and several A-B knives highlighted by a Blue Handle version bringing $869.00. The Voigt is a very desirable Detroit corkscrew, the P-10 “MIB” is extremely hard to find in the original packaging and A-B knives just keep selling for good prices.

Other “P” knife results to note were two nice condition knives, a P-25 C F Blanke Tea & Faust Coffee and a P-40 Remington made, both selling for $1,100.00. Remember with knives condition plays a big part in value. The P-71 Budweiser mentioned in the last issue did not meet reserve closing at $431.00. Also in the last issue I mentioned Bob Suddeth had bought the “P type Christ Jensen” political ad knife from Chicago but he informed me he was not the high bidder. My apologies Bob.

“Opener and eBay Trivia” (“BIN” Buy-It-Now & “DNMR” Did Not Meet Reserve)

One surprising “R” result was a R-8-1 Kaiers in average condition bringing $199.99. Someone got a good buy as this has sold for as much as $1,750.00 on eBay and I am sure condition held the price down. Corkscrews saw fewer good examples this past quarter on eBay as collectors choose other venues to sell their good pieces. One highlight was a 19thC English Double Lever bringing $5,280.00. Ebay is still a good venue to sell openers and corkscrews but continual fee increases and tampering with rules has made eBay less appealing to many sellers. One can only assume eBay is much more concerned about retail sells than the collectibles area.

PS, eBay seller, “Edieselite”, has been selling many nice U. S. Beer openers and they are from the collection of former JFO member, Roy Scanlon.

Below is an E-4-UL Coors Golden Beer / Sold By Johnson-Pearce Co. Bill McKenzie looked a long time for a “Round Head” E-4 Coors and I never knew if he found one, but this one sold on eBay in January for $20.50 and I was the very happy buyer. A little research on the internet found that Johnson-Pearce was a 1930's Arizona Coors distributor. In 1911 the company started as a Produce, Poultry and Egg business. With the repeal of Prohibition in 1933, they won the Coors Distributorship and are still in business today.

Joe Young found the above folding cork puller and bottle opener. He cannot find any patent information. Do any of our readers have any history on this piece? Nothing very complicated and I am sure it was not easy to remove a cork with this tool. Maybe a proto-type?

At the right is a recent addition to your editor's collection, an E-17-9 Everett (from Everett Brewing Co of Everett, Wash). It came from the collection of Bill MuGrage. Years ago Bill Pattie told me that the two Bills were antiquing when he saw the E-17 in a case after MuGrage had walked by it and he told him you may want to buy this one. Not much from Everett turns up. MuGrage's widow asked me to help her value some openers and this was the one good opener I knew he had. We worked a deal out and she will be selling Bill's other openers through eBay and through their website, check out Premium-PC, an eBay store.

Blue-Gray Show Fredericksburg VA February 11-15 2009

Blue-Gray was a great time. Jeb flew in and roomed with Gary Deachman and myself. The show was good as far as selling but I only got a M-3 Electro Chemical slider with a reps name (had never seen one with an agent name on it), an E-6 Fernwood from PA and a couple of miscellaneous. I made a big trade with Larry Moter as he got 4 of my 5 beer ice tongs and I got a nice P-Style Rochester Knife (EX), N-68-1 K B C (with worn blades), an A-13-20 Chattanooga and a CBO (Hatchet Type HT-6, I collect all of that style). Also made a big trade with Deachman, he got my mint A-17-15 Gold Nugget, A-15-25 Schwab, B-2-12 Savoy, K-6-1 Pearl & L-17-1 Schlitz. I got his L-2-18 McAvoy, E-17-2 Mile High, E-28-2 Gund and K-14-1 Drewrys. I had been bugging Jim Osborn to trade me his L-2 McAvoy and I had just completed that one. So you never know. It does give me 20 of the 24 known, just one behind Uncle Norman. The show seemed to have about the same number of attendees as last year. The local walk around seemed a little down. This show always has several area antique dealers and collectors attending and it did not seem to be as many as usual. The weather for the most part was outstanding and our room being outside, it helped a lot (weather being nice). People were buying but we also had the usual "I want to look around and I will be back". Gary sold about $2000, I did $1800 and Jeb sold about $900. Not bad for some old opener guys, though Gary's was mainly signs and trays.
